[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.] TELEGRAPHIC SQUABBLE.

The Western Union Company Makes a Vigorous Protest. NEW YORK, July 29th .- The following is the substance of the protest of the Western Union Telegraph Company against the Postmaster-General's great cut of the rates paid for transmission and delivery of Government messages, giving the history and objects of the Act of 1866, and the acions heretofore taken under it. The rate in force for the past five years has not been a uniform rate of one cent per word, as many papers have assumed, but ncreasing on a scale of distances above

,000 miles, with a minimum of twenty cents per message and a maximum of two and a half cents per word. The telegraph company hold, and are so egally advised, that the language of the Act does not give the Postmaster-General absolutely power to fix any rate he may deem fit. That power is qualified by Con-In Article 5 is the language: "Nor shall rivate property be taken for public use ithout just compensation." The power depends, therefore, on the question, is one mill per word just comensation?

THE PROTEST.

Hon. John Wanamaker, Postmaster-General -Dear Sir: Title 65 of the Revised tatutes, embracing the Acts of July 24, 1866, and of June 10, 1877, was the outgrowth of the first effort to induce Congress to establish a Government telegraph. A scheme was pressed before a committee of Congress to incorporate a new telegraph company by the General Government, with which the Government should contract to transmit telegrams at a price to be agreed upon, the Government receiving and delivering the messages, and being the only party known to the patrons of the tel-

This scheme was justified on the ground that the Government had no right to take existing telegraph properties except at the prices and on the terms acceptable to the companies that owned them, and the scheme was objected to by the telegraph companies then existing on the ground that the Government entering upon the FOR SALE—THE WELL-KNOWN TIVOLI pay expenses would simply destroy the ex-farm, situated near East Park. 147 acres isting telegraph properties. telegraph business at rates that would not

It would result in a compromise between the telegraph companies and the Committee mented Garfield was chairman, giving to the telegraph companies certain franchises and privileges, including priority of service, at rates to be annually fixed by the Postmaster General, and what were deemed at the time of most importance to the Government, the right to take the existing telegraph properties of the companies who accepted the provisions of the Act at the appraised value, to be ascertained by arbirators as described in Section 5,267. This compromise agreement was enacted into a law, subject to a formal acceptance by the telegraph companies, and their acceptance filed with the Government rendered it, to all intents and purposes, a compact between the Government and the tele graph companies, the operation of which was intended to be that the Government should have the right to take all the tels graph property, and that if it should elect establish a Government telegraph it should take the existing telegraph proper ties, on terms to be ascertained as the law This section (5,267) of the revised statutes 1878, annotated as being enacted June 10, 1872, giving the Government the right to take the telegraph properties, is in subtance the same language as the proviso at the close of Section 3 of the original Act of July 24, 1866, and therefore a part of the empact accepted by the Western Union Telegraph Company in June of 1867.

The fixing of rates by the Postmasterdeneral does not appear to have been considered an imperative duty on that officer, for no action seems to have been taken by him in the direction of fixing rates until July 1st of 1871, when the necessity for it was alleged to have arisen by reason of the complicated character of the service in transmitting signal weather reports. A conference with the telegraph companies was invited by Postmaster-General Creswell, through Captain Howgate, the acting head of the Signal Service, and a discussion of the subject was had in Washington; President Wm. Orton, representing the Western Union Telegraph Company, sistance of Assistant Attorney-General and the Postmaster-General having the as Whiting and the head of the Signal Bureau, and the rates were fixed satisfactorily to the telegraph companies. They were not annually revised until some years later, and in almost every instance the telegraph companies were conulted as to what they could afford to do e service for.

In two instances, Postmaster-General Jewell and Postmaster-General James, at the instance of the telegraph companies, recalled and modified their orders after they had been officially proclaimed. The language of the Act, "messages between the several Departments of the Government shall have priority over all other usiness, at such rates as the Postmaster-General shall annually fix," may be construed as contemplating the fixing of a higher rate than is paid by other patrons because of such priority in transmission over all other business. Certainly it never ontemplated conferring the power to fix the rates below the actual cost of the serv-Such action is nothing short of confiscaabout three-fourths the commercial rate. Our gross receipts for the last fiscal year, as he bonded debt, which is a part of our apitalization.

It will be seen that the working expenses, thout any return for any part of the capital employed, cost within a fraction of 75 per cent. of the total earnings. If, thereore, the Government rate averages less than 75 per cent. of the rate to the public (as it undoubtedly does), then the Governsiness is now done at a loss

The table on page 9 of the annual report hows the average cost to the company of handling messager to be 23 2 10 cents per message. If the Government business does sages, in order to yield such an average, must be considerably above the average length of business messages, about seven teen words, and it is a very exacting serv ice, having precedence over all other business, and requiring prompt and often longdistance messenger delivery, or rewriting in some cases to deliver by some special

Then, if it has to go to Oregon, passing through repeaters at one intermediate sta-tion, it would require three more operators. The company transmitted during the last fiscal year 51,496,954 messages. The cost for message service was in round numbers $1,120,000, making the average cost of delivery per message about 2 1 5 cents, although a large number of messages to the $1,120,000, making the average cost of defloor of exchanges, to newspapers and by Score: special wire deliveries did not require the Pittsbur use of a messenger—in fact, in most of the large cities, as in Washington City, we pay, by contract with the District Messenger Companies, 21 cents per message for making deliveries.

You may answer that the Government ends letters a thousand miles and delivers them for 2 cents, but neither the Govern ment nor any other patron of the telegraph would submit to the class of deliveries made by the letter-carriers,

In fact, the Government itself in this city charges ten cents per letter for special de-livery, and every telegraph message rea special delivery over more than half the area of this city.

At many of our small stations they have but one Government message during a month. The War Department requires that the messages themselves be rendered as vouchers. If an agent or employe of any of the departments is detained at a small station by a railroad interruption, and sends a message of ten words, the messenger of that station finds it is his duty to inclose that message by mail to the auditor of the company here for collection. That would cost this company a two-cent postage stamp. Then we shall have sent postage stamp. Then we shall have sent the message, paid one and a half cents to each operator engaged on it, two and a half cents for delivering, it and two cents for delivering. half cents for delivering it and two cents to the Government for forwarding the original mesage as a voucher, and when the account is made up we get one cent back. McCloud, a young man in Second race, seven-eighths of a mile, Ar. the employ of the Burlington road, left last of an estate valued at $2 000,000, left him by his mother. The mother, it seems, was divorced from McCloud, Sr., in 1857, and was afterward married to a civil engineer named Jewett. The Jewetts moved to California and made considerable money in mining. Jewett afterward became Super intendent of the Consolidated Virginia. Later he was acciden ally killed, and the widow married again two years later, this time espousing E. C. Cook. The couple made a great deal of money in mining stocks and lived in Sacramento several years. From there they removed to San Francisco, where they resided during the remainder of their lives. THE DISGRACE OF THE STAGE.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, it has been decided is to go upon the stage, as it was rumored she would do some two months ago. The way is being prepared for her by carefully written articles calculated to excite pity for her, and representing that she is more sinned against than sinning, and all such apologetic stuff for a woman who has become notorious by her infamy. We are told that she is refined, of tender sensibilities, is a lady in feeling and spirit, and that, therefore, her sins should be everlooked and the stage made a house of refuge for her. The people who talk that kind of nonsense know perfectly well that the only attraction the woman bas is her amous record. They know that a certain class of people will go to the theater to see her because of her relation to a dirty scandal, that was no libel. They know that the temple of Thespis is to be further disgraced by making it a thank-offering for the existence of a woman who not only outraged every wifely duty, but offended against the sacred instincts of motherhood. An indulgent public is to be asked to line this woman's purse because she has so little shame left that she can exhibit for coin as the woman who was the cause of the filthiest scandal that has yet agitated that not over-sensitive community, Chicago. Is there any new degredation to which the stage can be subjected? After this last, can it sink any lower? The Chicago Inter-Ocean hits the nail on the head when it lays the blame at the door of the modern manager, as conscienceless a man as breathes, with here and there an honorable exception, else he would cease his nefarious business of hunting up infamous women to mock the memory of the great lights of the drama, and to masquerade in the regalia of the pure-women and great artists who have honored the stage, and whose shades must look down reproachfully upon the low level to which their temple of art has been sunk, and the base uses to which its holy of holies has been reduced. The Inter-Ocean well says, in referring to this last threatened

That a manager should rush forward to secur as a star attraction a woman whose notoriety grew out of the most hideous scandal ever trailed through the divorce Court is not strange when we remember what sort of persons are managers in this country. Men without moral scruples of even the meanest order, wholly conscienceless, to whom shame has been unknown these many years, and whose only care in life is to make money, be the legal means to that end what they may, are offensively conspicuous in theatrical management, and tend to east reproach upon an honorable profession and the honorable men who strive to keep it decent. These pariahs—for they are nothing better, having no social standing outside of bar-rooms and the brothel—do not hesitate to clutch at whatever promises to attract the vulgar, the vicious, the ignorant and the libidinous to the theater in paying numbers. trailed through the divorce Court is not strange nous to the theater in paying numbers.

A CATHOLIC clergyman of San Francisco on Sunday preached what may well be termed a "red-hot" sermon against the class of "mashers" who congregate about church doors at the close of services. The vigor with which Father Fassnoti "went for" the young men who pose on the walk-ways at the close of "church," was enough to make his auditors feel that he intends a physical crusade, with the aid of the law, against the men who appear to make the business of their leisure hours the pursuit of women who have not escorts when upon the streets. The indignation of the priest should be shared by all other men who despise the masher. There is apparently a sort of fraternity among those fellows who are known as was 21 years of age. street statues, since they gather in groups on the walk-ways in the evenings, and make every sensitive woman who passes the object of staring and low-voiced exclamations that mortify, if they do not positively insult her. EUROPEAN WAR TALK.

The Reason Why English Capitalists Invest in America. WASHINGTON, July 29th .- An English solicitor, who is connected with some of the moneyed syndicates which are creating so much talk in the newspapers at the present time, explained the reason why so much foreign capital is seeking investment in the United States just at present. "In the first place," he said, "this syn dicate is not operating with English capita altogether. Money from all sections of the continent pours into London for the purpose of being invested in American enterprises."

"What is the reason for it?" cinnati it will be bad for all interests. THE CITY TRUSTEES WRESTLE WITH VARIOUS PROLLEMS.

Chris. Weisel and His Sidewalk Patching -Demand for Damages from Sewage -Bills Allowed.

The Board of City Trustees held its weekly session yesterday, with all the members present. Mayor Gregory in the chair. The Water-works report, as compiled by E. H. Williams, the Chief Engineer, showed that during the seven days ending on Sunday, 43,046,750 gallons of water had been pumped, the Stevens pump working 157 hours and the Holly being in operation 101 hours. It is noticeable that the amount of water pumped keeps increasing each succeeding week.

Matt. F. Johnson appeared before the of William Jackson, a well-to-do rancher Board in behalf of Chris. Weisel, and an of Walnut Grove, who is charged with had released Krehmeyer without the conbeen arrested for violating the Sidewalk Ordinnace in not laying down a stone walk Street Commissioner to make the repairs. Trustee McLaughlin admitted that he sidewalk, but not on such an extensive plan as had been done. There was no permission given to place new boards on the surface, but simply to repair near the awning posts.

Mr. Wesel, who was present, explained that he had been given no notice to cease work until a warrant was gotten out for

The Mayor insisted that the ordinance should be respected. Mr. Weisel should have waited until he had obtained official permission from the Board before he placed boards on the surface.

Trustee McLaughlin asked Mr. Weisel i he intended to put down a stone walk when he needed to repair again, and Weisel said he would do so. Trustee Wolf said the ordinance was being violated on all sides, and it was not being enforced at all. He thought they had better let the Weisel matter pass this had better let the Weisel matter pass this time, and McLaughlin held the same view.

The Mayor bowever was opposed to sult was the jury found Jackson guilty. The Mayor, however, was opposed to overlooking the violation of the ordinance. Mr. McLaughlin moved that the City Attorney be instructed to withdraw the suit against Mr. Weisel. Mr. Wolf sec-would take steps, however, to cover up that part of the canal on Mr. Hoit's property which was undergoing damage, and that was as for as they could go. The Mayor then took up the ordinancebook, and thought that as one block of Chinatown had been burned down the Board had better see that the fire-limit ordinance was enforced. He was not familiar with the fact as to whether that block was within the limits or not, but an examination of the ordinance proved that L. C. Chandler was present, and, on behalf of the two parties who owned the aforesaid block, asked that they be given aforesaid block, asked that they be given him this week, that he hasn't caught any M. Chinaman. This enraged Pankonin, and he insinuated rather broadly that if Jackson was such a lover of Chinese he ought to go to China and live with them.

There was no more talking after that. Jackson picked up a cigar-lighter and hurled it into the midst of Pankonin's countenence. The latter, under the influence of the blow, suddenly took a seat upon the floor. Jackson's thirst for gore was not yet quenched, and he set upon the white labor advocate and kicked him unmercifully, succeeding in breaking Pankonin's left leg. Pankonin remained in the County Hospital for ten months before he was able to nove about again.

PERJURED TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Barney, the Bride's Mother, Says She Testified Falsely.

CHICO, July 29th.-At the inquest this morning on the body of Neil Hubbs, Mrs. Barney created a sensation by testifying that Hubbs had fired the first shot, and, to defend his own life, Bierce returned the fire. She has perjured herself, but states the reason she did so was that she wanted to clear Hubbs while alive. But now, that he is dead, she wants the story straight. At the inquest held on the remains young Bierce Mrs. Barney testified as fol-

D. R. Bierce, the deceased, came to my house about 1:20 P. M., Friday afternoon, June 26th. There was no one there except myself and three-year-old son. He said he was sick enough to die, and thought he would faint before he could get to the house. He was very pale, and his lips were white, but did not seem excited.
I asked him if I could do anything for him, and hesaid he wanted some camphor. but I told him there was none in the house He asked permission to lie down on the bed, which was granted. He refused my offer to make a cup of tea, but consented to eat some toast and egg which was prepared. After he had eaten the toast I came out of the bed-room and closed the door. In about fifteen minutes Mr. Hubbs and his wife came, and I met them at the door. Mr. Hubbs sat beside the front door and my daughter near the front window. After bed-room door and came out, at the same

On taking a seat he asked Mrs. Hubbs how married life went, when she remarked, "First rate. I never was happier." Bierce day and moved to the town limits, where it then said he thought she ought to make an explanation about the elopement. She told him to shut his mouth. The next ques-tion Bierce asked was where and how did here last Sa urday night, at Seanor's Opera you get your license. The young lady said House. A large number of guests came it did not make any difference, but they from San Jose in stages. The affair was a had one. Then Mr. Bierce asked my daughter what she meant by telling him what she did last Saturday. Not receiving any answer, he if she remembered it, and she said she did. He then asked her if she re-membered what she told him three hours before she left the house. She made no answer. He then said: "It is not necessary for you to repeat the words. I want to know if you remember it." She said yes, whereupon she was asked what she did it for. Her answer was that it was done for

At this he produced several letters, and remarked that he had something here to show how she run her blinds. Mr. Hubbs then rose up and addressed his wife, saying: "Get our hat and we will go." I told them to remain, and asked Mr. Bierce to retire, and he went into the bedroom, clos ing the door after him. Almost immediately he returned to the threshold and fired his pistol at Mr. Hubbs. I did not see Hubbs draw his pistol, but saw him fire after he was shot at. There were about six shots exchanged. I started to rush between them, and Hubbs jumped out the front door, which was bolted by Bierce. The deceased then made a rush for my daughter, grabbing her in his arms, and placing the pistol on her head behind her right ear. Seeing the danger my daughter was in, grasped his arm and tried to pull it away just as the revolver went off, shooting my daughter through the ear. Bierce then placed his pistol against his own head, but I took his hand away. During this time Mr. Hubbs was kicking his way through the door. When he got into the room he grasped Bierce and threw him down, when the latter said, "Kill me Hubbs, you have me in your power."

I tried to separate them, and Bierce called me to get his pistol, which he had dropped on the floor some distance from him, but ran to the door and called for help.

My daughter and I begged Hubbs not to take Bierce's life, as the law would do that. At this Hubbs told his wife to run for her life, and he followed. I ran close behind them, out the back way. When I got into the street I saw Mr. Tuck coming up Seventh street, and I told him to go and get the officers and a doctor. I then heard Bierce calling me from the back door. He wanted me to come back, telling me he would do me no harm. So I went back into the house, and he said he wanted to he down on the bed. The door was open and he entered the bed-room. He picked up an old shirt, and had a small bottle in his hand. I then left the house to go after Mr. and Mrs. Hubbs.

Just as I got to the corner I heard a report of a pistol. In about five minutes I returned with several men and found him lying on the bed, with a pistol wound in his head. His name was Day Raymond Bierce; 20 years of age the 4th of last Octo-

New Railway System-Tramps Throwing Open Switches and Derailing Trains. PORTLAND (Or.), July 29th.-Henry Thompson has just returned from the British possessions, whither he went to close a deal with the new Westminster Southern Railway Company to connect the British Columbia with the Pacific Northwest. The Fairhaven Company is already building south to this city.

Thompson closed the deal by which the Thompson party purchased stock of the New Westminster Southern, and the new owners will undertake to continue the work south to the Fairhaven system. When completed, which will be in the shortest possible time, it will form a continuous road from New Westminster, B. C.

to this city. On the new Westminster line there are fifteen miles of grade, twenty miles right of way and 500 men at work. At Fairhaven there are forty miles of steel on the ground, two 75-ton engines, twenty-six cars, fifteen miles of grade, twenty-five miles right of way and 700 men at work. The company also has two new steamers. a system of scows and towage for transportmaterial, and owns the townsite of Fairhaven. The distance between this city and New Westminster, as the road will

"THE GOSPEL OF THE GRAPE."

San Francisco, July 29th .- Miss Kate Field, who recently severed her connection with the California Viticultural Commis sion as lecturer on "The Gospel of the Grape," has written a letter to President Wetmore, from Richfield Springs, N. Y. withdrawing her resignation. She states that she takes this action on account of the sympathy and support given her by the liticultural Commission and the press of California, and also because Prohibitionists already boast that they have forced her to abandon her opposition to their cause.

The names of all persons finding dia nonds, watches, etc., are added to this list refitted the store No. 421 J street, between Fourth and Fifth, formerly occupied by Cohn as a carpet store, and, in order to introduce their goods, this company put for sixty days souvenirs in every can of tea extra light, 131/20; extra light boneless, 141/20. coffee sold, such as solid gold, silver and nickel watches; also, genuine dia-monds in solid gold setting; also, money and many other articles of less value Every can contains a souvenir. The coffee H. Soule was burned to the ground early can and contents weigh about three pounds this morning. The fire was caused by an tea, can and contents about one and onehalf pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after sixty days, and these really choice goods will be sold strictly on their merits, but without the souvenir. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diamond or watch. This company claim that they have just as good a right to give away watches, diamonds or other jewelry as their competitors have to give away glassware, chromos, etc, Get up a club.
